

Starlight Eastern

Surrounded deep by landlocked land and so much forest with dirt in odd breaks of color near sparkling city tops and people walking early night hours near sizzling food from outdoor tables and iron grilles both vegan and carnivore in grey-white smoke, a party for omnivores and those who enjoy the starlight never missing from under clear skies or just a splatter here and there of good cloud and hiding music, usually a jazz trio, maybe a quartet with sting of cold air that's ever so just right in rich shadow of glow and harmony in the city.